Company Builds World's First Automobile Vending Machine (自动贩卖机)

Thanks to used-car website Carvana, it is now possible to buy your own set of wheels at the touch of a button, from the world's first and only computerized car vending machine in Nashville, Tennessee. It's quick, easy, and not cheap, but cheaper than buying a car the old way.

The company has been working on the concept for the past two years. Their original car vending machine was installed in Atlanta in 2013. But they've spent time improving the design, in order to take user experience to the next level. "Our new Vending Machine is a state-of-the-art, multi-story structure that delivers our customers' cars by merely inserting a special coin," said Carvana CEO Lennox Garcia.

The machine consists of a five-story tower that can hold up to 20 cars at a time. The tower basically serves as a(n) competitive pickup point for used cars that customers purchase through the website, enabling 34 pricing and eliminating delivery costs.

Customers can access a long list of specifications, ratings, reviews, and lots of other details about the cars they're interested in on the Carvana website. They even get 35 virtual tours that point out every scratch on the body of the car. Once the car is chosen and paid for, the company usually delivers the car to the customer for a seven-day trial period. This usually means the delivery costs are worked into the 36 price of the vehicle.

But with the Vending Machine, customers are able to go to pick up their cars straight away. It's a win-win 37 model that allows Carvana to cut down on staff and overhead (间接费用), and save customers about $2,000 as well. According to the company, it also makes for a great 38 buying experience - placing an oversized coin in a slot (硬币投币口) and watching their car roll down automatically. mission

"Carvana's 39 mission is to create a better way to buy a car, and this new Vending Machine will be a one-of-a-kind experience. 40 mirroring just how simple and easy we've made it to buy a car online," Garcia said. He added the company plans to build more car vending machines in the future.
